ALGIERS (AP) — Red China lost considerable face because the Asian-African conference was postponed despite vigorous Chinese insistence that it be held on schedule.

Communist China was forced to back down in the face of overwhelming sentiment against the meeting of chiefs of state this week in the tense Algerian capital.

The Chinese reluctantly joined the other delegates in voting unanimously Saturday to reschedule the meeting for Nov. 5 in Algiers. A preconference meeting of foreign ministers was set for Oct. 23.

More Trouble Expected

The vote came a day after part of the conference building at the Club des Pins, 12 miles west of the city, was wrecked by a mysterious explosion. This and nightly demonstrations in Algiers against the ouster of President Ahmed Ben Bella prompted the delay.

Helmeted policemen, armed with tear gas grenades and sub-machine guns, were braced for further protests.

Leaflets were circulated calling for renewed demonstrations against the coup led by Col. Houari Boumedienne.

One group called for a general strike today. Another urged Ben Bella's supporters to bang saucers on their balconies in a "casserole concert" of protest.

Foreign ministers and diplomats who came here for the Asian-African conference, tried to book air passage home.

Gift Wheat Arrives

One Asian diplomat observed that Red China had painted itself into a corner by going ahead with a high - pressure campaign for holding the conference on schedule.

For the Chinese, the conference represented desirable setting for propaganda blasts against the United States at a time when worldwide sentiment for peace talks on Viet Nam appeared to be growing. Peking has rebuffed all peace efforts.

The Chinese charged "imperialists and reactionaries" with obstructing and sabotaging the conference.

Premier Chou En-lai had flown to Cairo nine days ago in preparation for going on to Algiers. He had to content himself with a tiny summit conference with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser and Indonesian President Sukarno.

The three met for an hour and a quarter Sunday and scheduled more talks Tuesday. No statement was issued.

The first Soviet shipment of aid wheat to Egypt — 8,845 tons — arrived aboard the Soviet freighter Dubossary in Alexandria. Workers and crowds along the dock cheered "Long live Soviet-U.A.R. friendship."

A few hours earlier the American freighter Sabrina left Alexandria after unloading 24,000 tons of U.S. wheat. There were neither cheers nor welcoming crowds for the American vessel.

Six Men Selected For Moon Landing

Splinter Group Move Worries GOP Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Ray C. Bliss told the Republican National Committee today he will try to discourage the creation of GOP organizations which will vie for party funds.

The committee is concerned about splinter organizations and curious about the case of the ransacked desk at GOP headquarters.

In his prepared statement there was no mention of the ransacking incident and no direct reference to Barry Goldwater's new-born Free Society Association.

Fund-Raising Handicapped

However, Bliss told the committee members:

"We will never have a strong, united party until our fund raising efforts are also united and coordinated."

"It is for this single reason that I view with some concern the creation of separate organizations which solicit funds from Republicans, whether these organizations be liberal, moderate, or conservative. My first responsibility is to finance the operation of the Republican National Committee. Until that operation is fully financed — and we are far from that position at this moment — I, like my predecessors, must attempt at least to discourage the creation of organizations which will compete with us in the soliciting of Republican funds."

Firing Not Mentioned

"However, once these organizations become a reality we certainly will attempt to fully utilize the assistance they may render to the Republican cause."

Bliss noted he has had only 89 days in which to reorganize the party lineup since succeeding Dean Burch, who served as chairman under Goldwater, the 1964 GOP presidential nominee.

The chairman said nothing about his action in firing William Cody Kelly, longtime political associate who was his chief aide, for rumormongering through the desk of finance director Frank J. Kovac.

Help Or Harm?

Kelly, who said he was looking for evidence that Kovac was serving as a Goldwater spy, claimed the chairman first praised him for his nocturnal activity and then accepted his resignation for it. Bliss was silent on this, dismissing the whole incident as an "internal problem" that had been solved.

Goldwater's action in setting up a new Free Society Association dedicated to "enlightening the word 'conservative,'" appeared to have caused some concern among Republican leaders who feared such independent groups might cloud

Apollo Project Scientists Will Train For Year

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Six young scientists picked to land on the moon in the Apollo program begin their preparations next month.

But first they will appear at a news conference at Houston's Manned Spacecraft Center Tuesday.

Two of the six, who are trained pilots, will start astronaut training here at the space center. The other four go to Williams Air Force Base, Ariz., for a year of flight training.

For the most part the six were tight-lipped about their selection awaiting the news conference. Their names became known Saturday through a copyright story in the Houston Chronicle. Their selection later was confirmed officially. However, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announcement will be made at the news conference.

Rigid Tests Given

One of the two trained pilots, Dr. Frank C. Michel of Rice University, commented on the physical examinations they underwent.

"It was a different experience, all right," he said Sunday. "It took over a week and they just tested everything five different ways."

Approximately 25 candidates reportedly took the rigid tests at Brooks Air Force Base, San Antonio.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials would not confirm the number of finalists. Previously they said they had received 1,500 applications or expressions of interest by the end of last year.

One of the six selected, Dr. Duane E. Graveline, who is scheduled to resign today his post in the Aerospace Medical Division at Brooks Air Force Base, said in San Antonio Sunday the moon is like an "unclimbed mountain."

"It's there," he said. "Somebody's going to climb it." Graveline has done research on weightlessness.

Born In Wisconsin

Michel, 31, said he also had looked forward to getting into the program. He has always been interested in space, and read such science fiction as Buck Rogers and Flash Gordon "Just like all the other kids."

Current plans do not call for a scientist on the first flight of the three-man Apollo, which is at least four years away.

A physicist, Michel is known for his research on solar winds. He was born in La Crosse, Wis., and lives in Houston with his wife and son.

Graveline, 34, is a native of Newport, Vt. He is married and has four children.

The other four are: Dr. Owen K. Garriott, 34, an electronics engineer and associate professor at Stanford University. Born in Enid, Okla., married and the father of three sons.

Dr. Edward G. Gibson, 28, a physicist with a Ford Motor Co. subsidiary in Newport Beach, Calif., born in Buffalo, N.Y., married and has four children.

Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin, 33, a Navy flight surgeon stationed at Jacksonville, Fla. He is the other one with jet experience. Born in Oak Park, Ill., married and has a daughter.

Dr. Harrison Schmitt, 29, a geologist with the U.S. Geological Survey in Flagstaff, Ariz. Born in Santa Rita, N.M. bachelor.

ROCKET TESTED

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — The space agency will hold another in its series of tests of the safety system for moonbound astronauts Tuesday.

If all goes well, a 155,000-pound thrust escape rocket will pull a dummy moonship, similar to the one in which three Apollo astronauts would be riding, to an altitude of about one mile above the desert floor.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesmen said the test will determine how safe the astronauts would be should their giant Saturn V rocket malfunction just before or during its launch.

Screen Actor Steve Cochran Dies On Cruise

GUATEMALA (AP) — The death of film actor Steve Cochran aboard his schooner at sea off Guatemala was attributed today to an acute lung infection.

The body of Cochran, 48, was identified by Dr. Abel Giron, a medical examiner who performed an autopsy on it.

He said he could not pinpoint the exact nature of Cochran's illness until he receives a laboratory report, but the lung infection caused paralysis.

Cochran's body was aboard his 40-foot schooner Rogue which was towed into the Guatemalan port of Champerico Saturday. Also aboard were three Mexican women who said the actor died June 15 after he became paralyzed and could move only his head.

Hired As Helpers

The women were identified as Eva Montero Castellanos, 25, a seamstress; Eugenia Bautista Zacarias, 19, a laundress; and Lorenza Infante de la Rosa, 14.

The girls told authorities in Champerico this story: Cochran hired them in Acapulco, Mexico, at the beginning of June to work as maids and helpers aboard the boat. They were chosen from 180 girls who answered an advertisement he had placed in local newspapers.

They left Acapulco June 3 en route down the Pacific coast to Costa Rica, expecting to reach it in eight days. Cochran had promised to pay their way back to Acapulco.

Flag Tied To Mast

The actor took to his cabin and his fever began to rise. The girls quoted Cochran as saying: "Please don't leave me alone," and at another time,

Father And Son Die; One Saved In Boat Mishap

By CLINT DUNATHAN

"Dad said to get on his back and he'd take us in," six-year-old Danny LaVallie said from his bed in St. Francis Hospital today, where he is recovering from the effects of a boat tragedy that claimed the life of his brother and his father.

His brother, Dean, 8, was found floating in a life jacket, dead. The body of his father, Donald 23, was being searched for today.

"Our lines got tangled and the boat capsized," said Danny. The tragedy occurred Saturday morning after the father and his two sons went out on the bay at Breezy Point in a boat owned by the Mar Bell Cottages.

Floated For Hours

Mr. and Mrs. LaVallie and their sons, of 150 Sunset, Oak Forest, Ill., were staying at the Mar Bell and assisting with its opening for the season. The Mar Bell Cottages are owned and operated by Mrs. Elizabeth LaVallie and her daughter, Miss Johanna LaVallie.

"My brother Donald was in good health and he knew about boats and safety," said Johanna. "He was not one to take chances."

The boys in their life jackets were sighted at about 3 p.m. Saturday. They had gone on the bay with their father about 9 a.m. When the accident occurred has not been determined, but it is believed to have been before noon.

Officers of the Delta County sheriff's department who are directing the search for the father's body, said they had received reports that the boys may have been seen floating off-shore as early as 11:30 a.m.

Search Continues

Sheriff's officers, State Police skin divers, Conservation officers and volunteers joined in the search for LaVallie's body. Today a helicopter from K. I. Sawyer Air Base carried observers over the area. It came here through arrangement with Civil Defense.

In the helicopter with the pilot was Harold J. Vanlerbergh, member of the City Council, former mayor, and owner of the shore property near the scene of the tragedy. It was Vanlerbergh whose investigation of the floating life jackets is credited with saving the life of little Danny.

The aluminum boat, overturned, was found at 8:30 a.m. Sunday 125 feet from shore in two feet of water. A gasoline tank was beneath the boat. The motor was not on the boat, said Deputies Jack Hemes and Lee Wiles.

Job Corps Under Fire In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — The U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) and its Job Corps training program were under fire from two sources in Detroit today.

Those taking aim at the office were Wayne State University and Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

Wayne State announced over the weekend it had decided to withdraw from bidding for development of a job corps training center here and would have nothing to do with any future OEO projects.

Wayne said it learned that Philco Corp., a subsidiary of Ford Motor Co., working in partnership with a management firm and a national Negro women's sorority, already was being considered for a project on which OEO had asked Wayne to bid.

Programs Conflict

Mayor Cavanagh disclosed a letter to Sargent Shriver, the OEO chief, complaining Shriver's agency was considering a program for Detroit that had not been cleared by Cavanagh's Total Action Against Poverty (TAP) Committee.

The mayor said he had learned that OEO was "actively considering" a $408,370 program sought by the University of Michigan school of social work in conjunction with the Neighborhood Service Organization of Detroit.

"While on its face," Cavanagh wrote, "the proposal merely involves training of 70 poor people and 15 master of social work candidates it is in reality a request for a community action program. It could very well conflict with the field work presently carried on by TAP."

"As you know, we have worked diligently to provide a comprehensive coordinated attack on poverty in Detroit, and I feel that, before this proposal is considered by your office, it should be sent for review by the TAP Police Advisory Board."

Hotel Involved

The proposal calls for 70 people, at $50 a week, as social worker aides. It would also provide training in the field for graduate students. TAP administrators feel the social worker aides would be doing the same kind of work carried on by aides in the city's community action centers.

Alfred M. Pelham, Wayne's assistant vice president-finance, said the project Wayne was dropping involved a contract to convert Detroit's downtown Embassy Hotel into a training center for 400 girls.

Pelham said it was the second time in nine months Wayne had been encouraged to plan a Job Corps center while similar plans were being made by private industry.

Fireworks Due This Week On Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A rent subsidy provision and an amendment dealing with patents stemming from government-financed medical research may touch off some pre-July Fourth fireworks on Capitol Hill.

The Senate votes today on a bill which would establish regional medical centers to combat heart disease, cancer and strokes. It would provide $650 million in federal grants over the next four years for medical complexes composed of medical schools, research institutions and hospitals.

No Opposition

No opposition was voiced Friday when the measure, a major part of President Johnson's health program, came up in the Senate.

But an amendment by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., stirred controversy. It would give the government exclusive rights to any inventions developed through research financed under the program.

Long contends that private patents should not be issued on products developed through research for which the taxpayers pick up the tab. Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., floor manager of the bill, says the Welfare Department's general policy is that results of federally financed research should be made promptly available by publication and royalty-free licensing.

Housing Bill Coming

In the House, the Johnson administration may get its toughest test of the session when a housing bill containing a controversial rent subsidy provision is voted on.

It is one of three major measures the House hopes to dispose of before its members take an extended weekend recess for Independence Day oratory in home districts.

The housing bill is on Tuesday's House docket. Republicans hope for substantial Democratic help in attempting to eliminate the subsidy provision. The Senate has not yet acted on

Viet Cong-Held City Blasted By U.S. Warplanes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. warplanes flew through overcast early today to strike 16 times against the district capital of Tourmorong, held by the Viet Cong since Saturday. U.S. military spokesmen said.

Delayed previously by bad weather, Air Force B57s and Marine Corps Phantom jets destroyed one of two 105mm howitzers the Communist guerrillas captured when they overran Tourmorong, in the central highlands, the spokesman said. The other gun was damaged, they added.

The howitzers were the first field pieces of such size known to be in the hands of the Viet Cong.

Defenders Wiped Out

The town's 120 defending militiamen were presumed either killed or captured.

Vietnamese relief forces apparently were held back because of the danger of ambush to convoys traveling to the remote region 290 miles north of Saigon and unsuitable flying conditions for helicopters.

Only one road — a muddy, winding trail — connects Tourmorong with the nearest center of government strength, Kontum, 30 miles to the south.

The Viet Cong also was believed regrouping for another attack on Duc Hoa, 20 miles west of Saigon. The Communists overran that village Saturday. But the retreating government troops counterattacked and the Viet Cong withdrew.

Two Americans were killed Sunday night when a C123 transport plane was shot down about 13 miles east of Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport, U.S. military spokesmen announced. They brought the total number of Americans killed in Viet Nam by enemy action to 429.

On Secret Mission

Military spokesmen would not say how many other persons were aboard the plane — believed to be a Vietnamese air force transport — or give any other details about the flight. Their reticence indicated that it was on a secret mission.

In other ground action: Two U.S. Army advisers were reported wounded, one Vietnamese soldier killed and two other government defenders wounded in an attack on the Nghia Hanh district headquarters 40 miles south of Da Nang.

Viet Cong losses were not known, but U.S. spokesmen said a number of enemy dead were seen from the air.

Within 90 minutes after the initial attack, two U.S. Air Force B57s from Da Nang pounded the guerrilla positions with bombs and rockets and sent the enemy fleeing into the jungles, the spokesmen said.

Boy Not Lost; Waited For Sun

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Twelve-year-old Bernard Stanley Mars climbed down the steep trails in the Columbia gorge Sunday and told police he hadn't been lost overnight, that he was just waiting for the sun to come up.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mars of Pennville, Mich. They were on their way home after a month-long vacation in the West. They stopped off at Waukeena Falls, along the Columbia River Highway east of Portland Saturday.

They planned a short hike up the sides of the steep gorge, and became lost. His parents searched until nightfall and then called for help.

Sheriff's deputies searched the treacherous trails through the night. They found six arrows scratched on a trail. They believed the boy had used them to indicate the direction he was going.

The boy spent the night in a niking club cabin. At sunrise he started down the trail. He told police he, too, saw the arrows. He thought searchers had made them to guide him. So he followed their direction until he came to the cabin.

He had a tearful reunion with his parents and five brothers and sisters. His father is an employee of the Michigan State Highway Department.

Around the turn of the century, people were amazed when someone drove 20 miles per hour. They still are.

Leaflets Rained On N. Viet Nam

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force planes dumped 215 million cartoon leaflets over five cities in North Viet Nam today, urging residents to oppose the Communist government, a U.S. spokesman reported.

All the cities were South of Hanoi. They are known centers of Roman Catholicism or other groups potentially likely to be opposed to the Communist government.

The U.S. spokesman said the drops were the beginning of a major leaflet campaign to be carried out in North Viet Nam "below a certain line" south of Hanoi. The northernmost city was the Catholic community of Phat Diem, 55 miles south of Hanoi. The others were Thanh Hoa, Bai Thuong, Dong Phou Thuong and Ninh Binh.

No ground fire or enemy planes were spotted, and all eight planes returned safely, the spokesman said.

The leaflets, with cartoons on one side and a text on the other, charged that the Hanoi government was taking rice from the people to feed its troops in South Viet Nam.

Highway Dept. Asks Tax Hike

BLANEY PARK — Their is a "clear and present need" for an increase in highway revenues if highway building in Michigan is to keep pace with growth in population and prosperity, Wallace D. (Mike) Nunn, state highway commissioner, said here.

In an address before the Upper Peninsula Road Builders' Association, the former Iosco County Road Commissioner appointed recently by Gov. Romney to the new four-man State Highway Commission, said:

With 48,616 miles of roads and streets in Michigan reported to be substandard and inadequate, the State Highway Department "admits it cannot meet the needs of the motoring public between now and 1980 under the present schedule of revenues."

He cited an estimated $3 billion gap between construction needs and revenue projections between 1960 and 1980.

To fill the gap, Nunn said, the State Highway Commission has endorsed four proposals. These would:

1. Increase by one-cent the state taxes on gasoline, diesel fuel, and liquefied petroleum.
2. Introduce a new fee system for automobile licenses setting a minimum of $14 per car and a maximum of $20 for the heaviest passenger cars.
3. Adjust the distribution formula of motor fuel and motor vehicle taxes to increase the share received by cities and villages from 18 per cent to 20 per cent.
4. Reduce by one-half the sum of money cities of more than 30,000 contribute to truck-line improvements within their boundaries.

Nunn cited a State Highway Commission resolution supporting the proposals which included the condition:

"Nothing in this resolution shall be construed as opposing any other legislation dealing with refinancing the Mackinac Bridge."

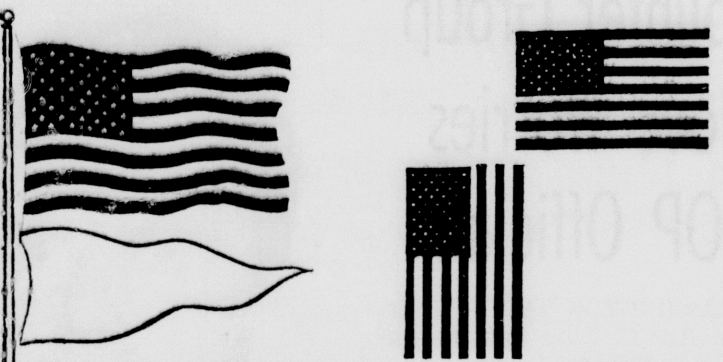

The package of proposals did not get on the legislative calendar until late in the current session and did not come to a vote, but will be receiving attention in future months, Nunn said.

Show Your Colors July 4

In 1831, William Driver expressed the sentiment of Americans past, present and future when he named the national colors Old Glory. All Americans should fly their flags proudly this Fourth of July—and every other nice day this summer. Here are 10 tips on the proper way to show your colors, as featured in the U.S. Steel News.

In processions, the flag should be on the marcher's right if there are two flags or in front of the center of a line of flags, shown above.

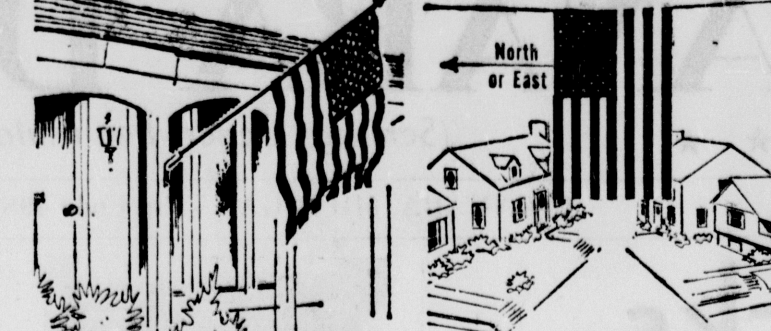

If two flags are crossed, U.S. flag is at its own right with staff on outside. In a group, it's at center with the highest point.

If flown on same staff with state or city flag or pennant, U.S. flag goes at the top of the standard.

On a wall, the union, the blue field with stars, is placed at the observer's top left, as shown.

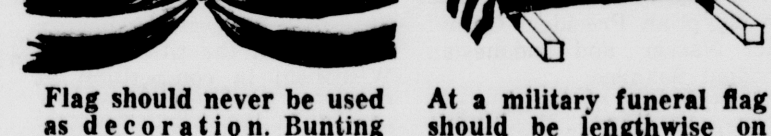

Extended from buildings, union should be away from building and flag should hang flat, not draped.

Across a street, union is placed north on an east-west street and east on a north-south street.

On a platform, flag is above and behind speaker or at speaker's right if on staff.

Flag should never be used as decoration. Bunting should be used with the blue at the top.

At a military funeral flag should be lengthwise on casket with union over deceased's left shoulder.

Mrs. Hannis, 91, Of Perkins Dies

Mrs. Stella A. Hannis, 91, of Perkins, died Saturday at St. Francis Hospital where she had been a patient the past seven days.

She was born in Czechoslovakia Aug. 21, 1871. Her husband, George, died Jan. 27, 1955.

Surviving are a son, George J. of Perkins; two daughters, Mrs. Agnes Dedick, Perkins, and Mrs. Raymond Bigger, Marquette; seven grandchildren and 8 great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 11 a.m. at the Anderson Funeral Home chapel. The Rev. Karl J. Hammar will officiate. Burial will be in Perkins Cemetery. Friends of the family may call at the funeral home from 5 to 9:30 p.m. today.

Lions Pay Tab For GI Phoning

Editor's Note — Some federal alchemy in Ohio. A long-distance telephone campaign in Nebraska. An antimosquito war in Louisiana, and a three-lady urban renewal in Montana are among glimpses from the U.S. scene this week.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — The Omaha Lions Club is picking up the tab these days for telephone calls to such places as Washington Court House, Ohio; Ozone Park, N.Y.; and Prairie Village, Kan. It's costing the club $40 to $65 a day, and though members never pick up a telephone themselves, they love it.

The Omaha Lions have underwritten a program of helping military men passing through Okinawa en route to and from the fighting in Southeast Asia to talk with their families back home. About half the calls originate with men hospitalized at Camp Sukiran, the Marine base on Okinawa.

A group of Omaha amateur radio operators who built and operate a short-wave station for the Omaha-Douglas County Red Cross headquarters have set aside the hours of 6 to 7:30 a.m. daily for traffic with amateur stations operated by Marines stationed on Okinawa.

In Omaha fellow hams — many of them professional men — place long-distance telephone calls to the homes of these service men, and make a telephone "patch" so they can talk directly with wives, children and parents back home. The quality of the transmission "is like a local call," one amateur boasted.

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The sluggish bayous—the tangled marsh grass and trees draped with Spanish moss, this is the battleground for a war in southern Louisiana.

The war is against mosquitoes. Mosquito control advisers hope to lean on a squad of swamp fighters to overcome the enemy eventually.

They drafted mosquito fish, which feed exclusively on mosquito larvae, to nip the buzzing biters before they mount waves and wing into New Orleans.

The tiny species of minnow feeds on the mosquito eggs when the insect is most vulnerable. The only drawback is that they die in large numbers when the canals and swamps dry up. Control workers hope to count.

Death Claims Roy Nerbonne

Roy Lawrence Nerbonne, Bay View Location, Gladstone, a lifetime resident of Escanaba, died at 11:30 a.m. Sunday at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Iron Mountain, after a three year illness. He was 71.

Mr. Nerbonne owned and operated the Nerbonne Meats and Grocery Store on S. 13th St., 30 years prior to his retirement in 1955. He was born in Escanaba Nov. 5, 1893. He served with the U.S. Army in World War I and was a member of Cloverland Post 82, American Legion.

He is survived by his wife, the former Signe Lillquist; one sister, Mrs. Stella James, Escanaba; one brother, Raymond Nerbonne, LaGrange, Ill.

The body was taken to the Degnan Funeral Home where friends may call today from 4 to 9:30 p.m. Parish prayers will be recited there at 8 this evening. Services will be held at St. Anthony's Church, Wells, Tuesday at 9 a.m. The Rev. Norbert Freiburger will officiate. Burial will be in Gardens of Rest Cemetery.

Military rites will be conducted by the American Legion and veterans are asked to meet at the funeral home at 8:15 a.m. Tuesday.

White Pine To Expand Plant, Double Output

By JEAN WORTH

White Pine Copper Co., which spent more than $50 million to build its copper mine plant in Ontonagon County in 1952-55 — the largest amount ever spent on an industrial facility in the Upper Peninsula up to that time—is engaged in a general expansion program which is expected to cost between $80 and $100 million and eventually double White Pine's production of copper.

That production already is the second largest in the United States from an underground copper mine and is the largest in Michigan. White Pine is mining 17,500 tons of ore a day and producing marketable metal at a rate of 130 million pounds a year. This is an estimated 89 per cent of the 1965 production of copper in Michigan, and 5 per cent of the total U.S. copper production and 1.2 per cent of the world's output.

Employment Leader

White Pine, a division of Copper Range Co., is often referred to as the Upper Peninsula's largest employer and certainly it is at the top of U.P. industries in employment with 1,900 persons currently at work for it at White Pine, but Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co. of Ishpeming is slightly ahead in employment at present and, like White Pine, planning increased employment. It has a large expansion of its new Empire Mine plant at Palmer underway.

White Pine's employment is almost double the population of the village of White Pine, created by construction of its mine, mill and smelter which started in 1952 and produced its first copper in January, 1955. The village has a population of about 1,000.

A second reverberatory furnace soon will be built at the smelter and will have a larger capacity than the first furnace. The general expansion program will rank White Pine behind only Kennecott and Phelps Dodge and ahead of Anaconda among United States copper producers.

Ore Reserves

Its ore reserves are estimated at about 550 million tons of copper-bearing ore averaging about 25 pounds of copper per ton. It is currently being mined at a rate of about 6 million tons a year. It is estimated that White Pine and its parent company, Copper Range, own well over 10 per cent of the copper reserves in the United States which can be mined profitably in current economic conditions. Its ore reserves are larger, in proportion to present capacity, than any other copper company's in the country, and possible in the world.

White Pine's 1964 production was 114 million pounds of copper, which was cut substantially by a 48-day strike. The 1965 production has been estimated at about 135-140 million pounds, based on the first five months' production.

The annual payroll is over $11 million and annual purchases of the company total $15 million.

Employees Commute

White Pine's employees live in about 75 different communities in an 11-county, two-state area as large as Connecticut and Massachusetts combined. Many ex-iron miners from the Gogebic Range and elsewhere are on the payroll.

In September, White Pine will celebrate the pouring of its billionth pound of lake copper. If cast into ingots and laid end-to-end, this copper would reach about 5,500 miles.

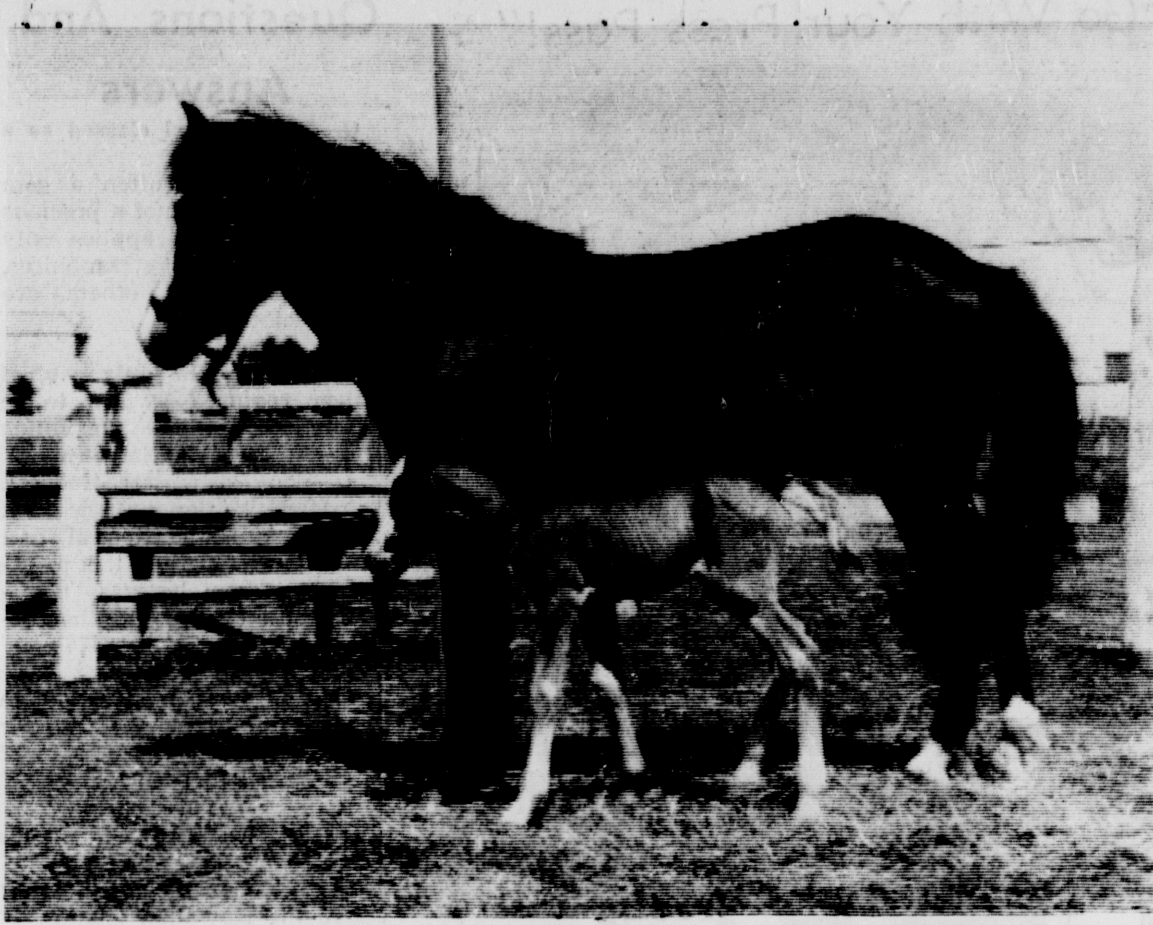

White Pine's "lake" copper is a special grade. Because of the purity of copper in Upper Peninsula ores it does not have to go through the expensive electrolytic process. The only impurity present in any quantity in this ore is silver.

What silver cannot be economically recovered in the mill before smelting is allowed to remain and will be stabilized at about 16 ounces of silver per ton of refined copper. While this silver content reduces electrical conductivity of the copper slightly, it enhances other properties of lake copper.

Consumption Booms

James Boyd, president of Copper Range Co. said in an address to an investors conference at Minneapolis this year that copper is one of the rarest of the so-called common metals in the earth's crust and that production of even the largest mines has shrunk in proportion to growth of consumption.

Commenting on the rejuvenation of the Upper Peninsula as a source of copper, Boyd said "Copper Range Co.'s mines in the Lake Superior area are the primary reason for this economic revival. Once the largest producing area of the world, the Upper Peninsula declined in importance in face of the discovery and rapid growth of the large, open-pit mines of the West. The downward trend was reversed by the White Pine mine.

"With White Pine's reserves the obvious question is why we are not rapidly increasing production. The answer lies in mining technology. The nature of these deposits is different from most other copper deposits in the world, and have to be mined by methods peculiarly adapted to these conditions."

Plan Expansion

"We have begun the engineering to expand White Pine mill and smelter. The economic effects of this expansion will be felt throughout this area. In an industry which is growing steadily, with markets that are as secure as any commodity but food can be, and having the ore reserves to support production and the determination to do so, Copper Range (White Pine) has a most promising future."

Copper Range has not paid a dividend for four years, preferring to plow back its earnings into modernization.

Two other companies producing copper in the Upper Peninsula are Calumet & Hecla, Inc., and Quincy Mining Co. The productions in 1964 were: C & H, 22 million pounds; Quincy, 3.8 million and Copper Range, 3.5 million pounds.

Explorer Scouts On Ranger Tour

The Explorers Post 44, in a tour Friday, conducted by Ray Chase, forest ranger for the Rapid River District, inspected the facilities at Rapid River and looked at several field projects.

The Explorers Post will choose one of the field projects to work on. The choice is between erosion control, seeding wildlife openings, pruning, or clearing streams for canoe travel.

When asked if vandalism played an important part in conservation Mr. Chase answered that while some damage is caused by vandalism and by thoughtlessness most people are considerate and leave their campsites in good condition. One example of thoughtlessness that was pointed out to the group was the $500 million spent annually on the litter campaign.

Ken Turner was the committee chairman; the advisor was Joseph J. Spota, President. Fred Gravelle announced that there will be a meeting later

Mrs. Jokinen Of Rock Dies

Mrs. Hilja Wilhelmina Jokinen, 82, of Rock, died at 3:50 a.m. today at Oja Rest Haven, Gladstone, where she had been a patient 30 months.

Friends may call at the Anderson Funeral Home Wednesday from 4 to 9:30 p.m. The body will be removed at noon Thursday to Faith Lutheran Church, Rock, where services will be held at 1 p.m. The Rev. William Avery will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Edward Lepatuoto of Gwinn. Burial will be in Rock Cemetery.

Mrs. Jokinen was born in Kuortane, V. L., Finland, Jan. 14, 1883.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Lyle Kramer, Van Nuys, Calif., and one grandson, Peter Kramer, Washington, D.C.

Bethany Church Pastor Honored

The Rev. Dr. Walfred E. Nelson was honored by Bethany Lutheran Church council and congregation on his 25th ordination year.

A dinner was given at the Terrace Saturday evening by the Council. Arthur Neiman served as the toastmaster, and Richard Hanson, a former staff member, gave the main tribute address. The pastor was presented a portable typewriter from the congregation.

At the Sunday morning services, Dr. Nelson delivered his sermon on the theme "Chosen By God," and centered his presentation on his years in the ministry. He stated that he did not choose the ministry; God found him on the plains of Kansas where he was and he could not resist the divine appointment. The pastor comes with only one set of credentials: "Thus saith the Lord," and with only one commission, "Feed His Sheep."

Bright Threshold

Editors and publishers of Michigan newspapers who are members of the Michigan Press Association met in summer session at Michigan State University at Marquette last weekend. They talked shop a bit but their Northern outing was devoted most importantly to Upper Peninsula exposure.

The Upper Peninsula is not really well understood downstate and it suffers somewhat from this lack of general understanding of the resources of this area. The Marquette meeting of MPA helped solve this situation somewhat.

All of the newspapermen took home with them, we're sure, an impression of substantial gain in the Upper Peninsula. The well known Upper Peninsula pride and pine cone patriotism were at work, of course, but far beyond this was an enthusiasm born not of hope, but of conviction.

The Peninsula has had its full share of prophets for years. They have been saying that the Upper Peninsula's chief problem of development of resources and increasing its settlement is only temporary; that it will assuredly grow and improve in the future. Out of this view came the hope for increased employment opportunities, increased income, increased developments in the near future.

Now there is unmistakable evidence that the Upper Peninsula is moving. Mineral industry, which has given the U.P. economy such a big bolster in recent years with its huge investments in modern mine plants, is on the threshold of further announcements of increased operations so large that the U.P. which has for decades been a chronic labor surplus market, will probably have to import some workers.

Wood industry is also moving. New plant construction and enlargement plans already in the works assure enlargement of both the U.P. wood market and U.P. wood industry employment. This was inevitable with the great comeback of the Upper Peninsula's forests under modern management practices, but it seemed more distant than the current view of big things in the immediate offing.

There are still some years to go to the maturity of much new U.P. forest timber for sawlog use, but its current pole stage makes a huge volume of wood available for pulping. Just how much will be known at the end of this year when the federal forest survey sponsored by UPCAP with financing by the Area Redevelopment Administration and staffing by the U.S. Forest Service is completed.

The industrial planning to utilize these big mineral and wood resources has been sought for years and now it is unfolding rather rapidly. The implementation will change the economic complexion of the U.P. from a depressed area to one of thrifty industry.

The new outlook born of these changes was apparent to the men of the Michigan Press Association. Frank Angelo, managing editor of the Detroit Free Press, just back from a visit to the huge Empire Mine at Palmer, now under process of enlargement to double its pellet iron production, keyed the reaction. "I've got five good stories in my pocket on U.P. change," he said.

While this industrial rebirth is developing there is also a parallel awakening in the recreation business, which is so obviously one of the Upper Peninsula special opportunities. Dr. Uel Blank of Michigan State University gave UPCAP a rundown last week on developments underway or planned for the U.P. and he filled a blackboard map of the U.P. with their names.

They included: Gateway Park at St. Ignace, the Ironquois ski resort near the Sault, the Dollarville Dam, Christmas Village near Munising, Great Lakes Memorial at Menominee, a mid-Peninsula Nature Center, Pine Mountain ski resort expansion at Iron Mountain, Pictured Rocks Lakeshore, Copper Harbor resort, Chicagoan Lake development, Quincy Hoist Lookout at Hancock; the White House summer and winter resort complexes on Lake Gogebic, Copper Peak ski resort, Sylvia Tract and others.

Never have so many ventures been in planning or underway in the Upper Peninsula. A Marquette Ambassador told an MPA visitor "We're going to stop selling moccasins in the U.P. and start selling binoculars, so that people can see what's cooking."

The Doctor Says:

Sore Throats Recur

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

A reader asks what would make her daughter, 5, have frequent sore throats. The child's tonsils were removed about two years ago in the hope that this would put an end to the sore throats. Although removal of the tonsils will prevent future attacks of tonsillitis it is no guarantee against sore throats.

Most attacks in which the sore throat is accompanied by a fever are caused by streptococci or by various viruses. Some children in their first few years have a poor resistance to such infections.

Members of this child's household should be tested to see whether any of them are carriers of the causative organisms — especially streptococci. Aside from avoiding contact with persons who have colds and sore throats or who are carriers there is no satisfactory means of prevention.

If the cause is a streptococcus, however, penicillin can be relied on to effect a prompt cure. The commonest cause of recurrence is stopping the treatment too soon.

Q—I have been taking my daughter, 8, to a skin specialist for several months for pityriasis rosea. She just gets over one bout and it starts all over again. What do you advise?

A—Pityriasis rosea, a rash, usually clears up with treatment in six or seven both.

Q—My daughter, 5, has infectious mononucleosis. According to our doctor she is younger than most persons who get it. Will she have an increased susceptibility to this disease when she reaches her late teens?

A—Infectious mononucleosis is a relatively mild disease that clears up spontaneously. It is most common in adolescents and young adults. Since a second attack is extremely rare your daughter need not worry about a return engagement.

Q—My daughter, 8, was given a glucose tolerance test. She had no sugar in her urine but the blood showed a high sugar level. If this was inherited did she get it from her father or her mother?

A—Diabetes is an inherited disease in many but not all cases. It is not passed from mothers to sons (sexlinked inheritance) like color blindness. Thus your daughter may have inherited a tendency to this disease from either parent or out treatment in six or seven both.

Space Base Race

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Soviet man-in-space endeavor is run by the Russian military.

The Reds are pursuing the moon race on a course carefully designed to increase their military potential.

They haven't let even the moon program deflect them from driving ahead on the development of a military-manned, earth-circling laboratory, which both Moscow and Defense Secretary Robert McNamara agree is the next step in the eventual effective military use of space.

The Russians are believed substantially ahead of the United States in developing this orbiting laboratory. They've shown an ability to operate in space for longer periods. They're ahead in a significant number of military - useful, man - in - space experiments. Their Voskhod astronauts were not confined to oxygen suits in their spacecraft.

By contrast, McNamara seems to be leaving U. S. space initiative to the civilian National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The U. S. military-manned orbiting laboratory and all other military-manned space projects have been held up by McNamara's unwillingness to push through with programs unless there is a firm "operational requirement."

Since there is no known operational requirement for a manned orbiting laboratory or for any other man-in-space project at present, McNamara's aides find their safest course is to hold back.

Repeated studies and refined analyses have been made on the manned space laboratory. There have been protracted periods of indecision. Progress has been snail-like.

Red progress on the manned orbiting laboratory as such is not what makes U. S. military research and development men apprehensive.

It's the broad front on which the Russians are pushing ahead on their military - oriented, man-in-space program.

As one U. S. research general puts it:

"It is the unknown that concerns us. We do not know really what opportunities may be afforded from operating in near-earth orbit—100 to 500 miles. If they (the Russians) are ahead of us in exploration, they may uncover, or already have uncovered, some operational activity that is advantageous to them, and if they discover it ahead of us, then we are in a difficult position."

Such a breakthrough could lead toward a space-based anti-ICBM, a satellite inspector-killer system, a highly effective spy-in-the-sky or any one of a dozen other possibilities which no one can now anticipate.

Despite McNamara's hard stand, there are signs that he and his top scientific aide, Dr. Harold Brown, may be starting to yield under pressure from their military and civilian advisers.

That is, McNamara and Brown may at last be ready to tiptoe into military - manned space projects in a cautious attempt to catch up with the Russians before it's too late.

Ask The Dentist

By ALFRED E. SEYLER, D. D. S.

and Michigan Dental Assn.

Q. I do a fair amount of travel by airplane, and am quite annoyed by pain in several of my teeth every time I fly. Have you any suggestions?

A. According to a recent report in Dental Abstracts, completely healthy teeth can stand any change in altitude, so it would seem you should consult your dentist for a thorough examination of your teeth, including X-rays.

If you have had new fillings placed recently, or if you have teeth with deep cavities, uncured for, your trouble may be quite easily diagnosed. It would help your dentist if you would do a simple diagnosis for yourself, by noting whether the plane is taking off and gaining altitude, or whether the pain occurs while descending.

Toothaches such as yours seem to be caused by a change in volume of the gases in the teeth, much the same as caused by drinking hot or cold liquids. Severe pains during a gain in altitude are usually the result of new fillings which are deep and cause a temporary inflammation of the pulp of the tooth, just as very hot or very cold foods do. A tooth with an exposed nerve will act the same way.

Frequently a tooth in which the nerve has died, and proper pulp canal treatment has been given, will cause pain upon descent from high altitude.

Dental researchers who have worked with space projects have learned that dental problems are quite likely to occur in space travel and that many new problems may be in store for future space travelers—for example, dentures may lose their retention at low

25 YEARS AGO

The Escanaba WPA Concert orchestra of the Michigan Music Project will play a concert at Camp Wells tonight at a farewell party for 150 CCC enrollees.

James Nyberg was named president of the Bethany Lutheran League at an election held in the church parlors. Vice-president is Reno Beck. These new officers replace Arne Erickson and Arlene Johnson.

Now that there is so much talk about Fifth Column and subversive activities in the country, what with the European war making Americans wary, the office of County Clerk P. A. LeClaire is being peppered with requests for birth certificates.

50 YEARS AGO

With the completion of No. 3 dam on the Escanaba River by the Escanaba Traction Company the city will have at its disposal a total of over 7,500 horse power to drive its industries. The work now going forward at the new dam will give to this city and the surrounding district a fund of power undreamed of a few years ago.

The annual camp meeting of the Seventh Day Adventists which has been in progress for the past ten days, will close this evening. Yesterday the crowning service of the series of meetings was held when 26 new converts were baptized.

Questions And Ann Landers

Answers

Q—Is the pearl classed as a precious stone?

A—The pearl, often a gem of great value, is not a precious stone. That term applies only to diamonds, rubies, sapphires, and emeralds. All others are semiprecious.

Q—Who is the only cabinet officer required by law to be renominated at the beginning of a new presidential term?

A—The Postmaster General. The law specifies that the term of the Postmaster General shall be for the term of the president by whom he was nominated and one month thereafter.

Q—Who was the only woman to ever win both the Pulitzer and Nobel prizes in literature?

A—Mrs. Pearl Buck.

Q—Do the Sandwich Islands still exist?

A—Yes, but they are now called the Hawaiian Islands.

Q—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. was born at Campobello, N. B., Canada in 1914.

Q—How did Wall St. in New York get its name?

A—In 1642, the Dutch built a public meeting house on the site of 73 Pearl St. In 1653 they erected a wall to protect their settlement from which Wall St. takes its name.

Q—How long do lion cubs retain their baby coat?

A—Two to three years.

Q—What is the best depth of water table to produce the finest timber forest?

A—Four feet or deeper.

Q—When did the U. S. Constitution go into effect?

A—On March 4, 1789.

Q—Do vultures, which eat chiefly carrion, locate their food through the sense of smell?

A—No, by their extraordinary eyesight.

Q—Does a tree benefit in any special way by its fall colors?

A—Fall colors are an incidental chemical reaction of no importance.

Q—Was Alexander Graham Bell, the scientist who invented the telephone, an American by birth?

A—No, he was born in Scotland.

Q—What is thanatomania?

A—Thanatomania is a morbid glee upon reading obituaries.

Q—How long do members of the president's cabinet serve?

A—They serve at the pleasure of the president.

Hamster Denies That He Smells

Dear Ann Landers: You've received thousands of letters from people, but have you ever received a letter from a hamster? I'll bet this is your first.

Several of us hamsters read your column every day. Our masters line the floor of our cages with your page of the newspaper because they know we are fans. Usually we agree with your advice, but recently you let us down. A young boy asked you to help persuade his mother that hamsters are desirable pets for children. It seems his mother had the impression that hamsters smell. You said, "I hope your mother will let you have the hamsters because they make wonderful pets, but they do smell."

When we read that, Ann, we were sick. We do not smell. Our cages smell if they are not kept clean, but why blame us for that?

Will you please print my letter and set the record straight? —SIDNEY THE HAMSTER.

Dear Sidney: I apologize to every hamster everywhere. It was my advice that smelled. Hamsters, according to all the experts, are indeed odorless, and I'm happy to set the record straight.

Dear Ann Landers: What can a mother say to a 23-year-old son who refuses to accept responsibility for himself? When I tell him he is behaving like a juvenile he says, "It's your fault, you raised me."

I raised him all right. His father gave me no help whatever — and it shows. When the boy was in school I was the one who kept prodding him to do his chores and his homework. He used to hide behind his father and whine, "Make her leave me alone." My husband would turn to me and say, "Ruth, why don't you quit nagging the boy?"

I know I've failed as a mother but it's too late to do anything about it now. What can I say when my son looks me in the eye and says, "You raised me. It's your fault." —TRIED AND FLOPPED.

Dear Tried: You can say, "Yes, I raised you and I'm sorry I didn't do as well as I had hoped to do, but I did my best. And now since we agree that I botched the job I suggest you take over and make something better of yourself. Humans can change and improve. The world is full of people who have succeeded in spite of incredibly poor upbringing. Be my guest."

Dear Ann Landers: I am a

Man Prepares Everglades For Disaster By Drought

By LEE SMITS

Conservation starts off with water and topsoil. We succeed in conserving these two, or we perish. Among the many other meanings of conservation are wood ibis and alligators.

Everglades National Park in Florida is bigger than the State of Delaware. A man standing on a 12-foot stepladder could look across the Everglades for 100 miles if he had a telescope. Right now he would be looking over a parched desert where innumerable wild creatures are doomed.

Drought is the immediate cause, the way to disaster having been prepared by the works of man. Ten years ago engineers figured that a system of canals and levees in the Everglades would speed the run-off of flood-water when hurricanes strike the Florida coast. The system blocked the southward flow of water through the Everglades. Rainfall shortage completed the disaster.

Like other national parks and any sizeable area where nature isn't interfered with the Everglades attract a procession of far-travelling pilgrims who find nourishment for the spirit, the imagination; exercise for awareness. There is no handy name for this kind of natural resource.

For a review of conservation priorities in Michigan we turn to a man whose energies are largely directed to proclaiming the principles of human ecology. Carl T. Johnson is a member of the State Conservation Commission; founder of the Michigan Bear Hunters' Association, one of the most militant conservation outfits we have. He lives in Cadillac, has his offices in Grand Rapids, spends a lot of time in Lansing around Conservation Department offices and the Legislature.

Meanwhile Carl is on call to address service clubs and other organizations on the subject of conservation in his mind. As a successful businessman Carl takes an accountant's view of the conservation problems of state and nation. He asks for better forest management, for multiple use; for geological exploration to uncover additional mineral wealth.

Here are some of the points Carl hammers away on:

Mackinac Island To Have College

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of Michigan's new Mackinac College will come from the National Academy of Sciences.

He is S. Douglas Cornell, executive officer of the Academy's National Research Council. Douglas' appointment was announced by the Council Saturday.

Mackinac College will be on Mackinac Island. It plans to open in September, 1966.

Heart Holes Run In Family

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Four-year-old David Brooks is having a hole in his heart repaired today, but he probably doesn't think there's anything unusual about the operation.

His father and his 7-year-old sister have been through the same thing—both successfully.

David, whose family lives in Fanwood, N. J., Friday entered the University of Michigan Medical Center, where doctors performed the same delicate surgery on little Susan Brooks last January.

Their father, Victor, had a similar operation 2½ years ago at Cornell University Medical Center at Ithaca, N. Y. Doctors think the heart defect may be hereditary.

The problem is a hole in the wall inside David's heart, between the organ's two auricles. It interferes with blood circulation through his body.

A team of 12 doctors, nurses and assistants worked more than three hours to mend Susan's heart early this year.

Fort Mackinac Draws Tourists

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — Tourist visits to Fort Mackinac are well up this year.

The Fort, a Mackinac Island landmark, reports a 15 per cent gain in the May 30-June 5 period this year as compared to last year. There have been 21,511 tourists this year. Last year there were 18,936.

Sally Ann Hansen And Jimmy R. Bruce Wed

Sally Ann Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duwane Hansen, 514 S. 12th St., and Jimmy Rogers Bruce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grenfell, 617 S. 10th St., repeated their marriage vows before the Rev. J. Bruce Brown Saturday, June 26, at First Methodist Church in Escanaba.

Soloist of the 3 p.m. double ring ceremony was Mrs. George Semmens and organist was Mrs. Clovis Colvin.

A center bouquet of pink and white carnations and side bouquets of pink carnations and white pompons formed the floral setting for the service. The aisle was carpeted with a white runner and the pews were marked by large satin bows with clusters of lily of the valley.

The reception for 250 including guests from Evanston and Morton Grove, Ill., points in California, Gary, Ind., Green Bay, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Detroit, Lansing and Manistiquette as well as Mrs. Kenneth Crowe of Two Rivers, Wis., was held at 5 p.m. at Marco's Starlite Ballroom and was followed by dancing.

Mrs. Sandra LaCrosse was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were another sister, Susan Hansen, and Cheryl Peterson. Joseph Hebert served as best man for Mr. Bruce and Ronald Kivi and Thomas Grenfell Jr., a brother, were groomsmen. Completing the bridal party were Wayne LaCrosse, brother-in-law of the bride, and Mickey Moses, who ushered.

Peau de Soie Gown

The bride's gown of peau de soie was designed with a bateau neckline, Dior sleeves, modified bell-shaped skirt and detachable Watteau train, which fell from a large silk bow with a hand-made rose in the center. Schiffli embroidery detailed the bodice, skirt and train. Her bouffant veil of English silk illusion was attached to a flower petal tiara. She wore a diamond and sterling silver cross pendant, her bridegroom's gift, and she carried a cascading bouquet of pink bountiful roses and pink carnations with trailing ivy. She was given in marriage by her father.

Her honor attendant and bridesmaids were in identical ballerina type dresses of soft pink, with molded bodice, scoop neckline and bracelet sleeves. The detachable floor length overskirt was detailed with a back panel extending from a bow. Their flower petal head-dresses with veils were of matching pink. They wore sterling silver pendants, gift of the bride. Their flowers were pink sweetheart roses and pink and white carnations.

For the wedding and reception Mrs. Hansen chose a street length sheath of French blue organza over satin. She wore a matching coat of organza with embroidered front panels and sleeves, a blue veiled petal hat and white accessories. Her corsage was white roses and carnations. Mrs. Grenfell was attired in a jacket dress of silk blend in citrus green. The bodice print was repeated in the jacket lining. Her flowered hat and accessories were beige and her corsage, yellow roses and carnations.

To Wisconsin Dells

The wedding cake, served by Mrs. Jeanne Kiddyney and Mrs. Cindy Peterson at the reception, was four-tiered, all white, decorated with roses and topped with three bells with satin and lily of the valley centers. Micki Miller and Cherie Weullner presided at the silver coffee service. Cindy Brock and Mary Flath served punch and Karen Christensen was in charge of the guest book.

The newlyweds will be at home at 522 S. 12th St. after a honeymoon at the Wisconsin Dells. For traveling, the bride wore an off-white summer knit three-piece suit with front jacket of soft blue and beige plaid mohair, and beige accessories.

Both young people were graduated from Escanaba Area High School in 1962. The bride now is with Clairmont Transfer Co. and Mr. Bruce is in his senior year at Northern Michigan University.

TIME GROWS SHORT

If you haven't as yet taken last-summer's wardrobe out of its wrappers, you had better get busy. Many of your clothes may still be useable, but most will have to be shortened a bit before you can wear them.

Women's Activities

PAINT PROBLEM—Make-up, which is usually the average woman's best friend, can also be an enemy, as actress Jessica Tandy can attest. Playing Lady Wishfort in Minneapolis in the comedy "The Way of the World," top photo, Miss Tandy has her natural beauty concealed by make-up as she takes on the look of a shrew. Off-stage, bottom photo, the actress is much nicer to look at.

Quist-Nelson Bridal Rites At Bark River

Bouquets of white and American Beauty peonies decorated the main and side altars of St. George Catholic Church in Bark River for the wedding of Mary Louise Quist and L. Dale Nelson. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Quist of Bark River and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nelson, 110 Hogan St., Marquette.

The Rev. Thomas P. Dunleavy performed the 4 p.m. double ring ceremony and celebrated the Nuptial High Mass Saturday, June 26. English Modal Mass was sung by St. George Choir with Mrs. Edwin Bergman, organist. The traditional hymn, "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" was sung as the bride placed a bouquet of long stemmed American Beauty roses, arranged in a silver vase given to her paternal grandparents, the August Quists, 50 years ago, on the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

The bride, escorted down the white carpeted aisle by her father, who gave her in marriage, was attended by her sister, Janis Quist of Bark River, as maid of honor, and Kristine Coitois of Harvey, Mich., a niece of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid. The bride's young cousin, Lori Olson of Bark River, was flower girl.

Mr. Nelson's best man was Edward Buys of Marquette. Groomsman was John Martin, Bark River, a cousin of the bride, and Roger A. Quist, a brother, and Raymond Sharkey, Marquette, ushered. James Quist, also a brother of the bride, carried the rings on a white lace heart-shaped pillow and Michael Britton of Wilson, a cousin, carried a white satin prayer book with long white ribbon streamers.

A scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves which came to points at the wrist detailed the bodice of the brides floor length gown of silk lace and nylon tulle. Diamond shaped appliques of lace accented the bouffant net skirt over a ruffled underskirt of taffeta. The detachable Watteau train was of silk lace. A tiara of miniature pearls held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She wore a double strand necklace of cultured pearls and earrings, gift of her bridegroom, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and American Beauty roses.

Silk Sheaths

Her aides were attired in floor length sleeveless white silk sheaths with semi-scoop neckline and floating back panel. Their headpieces were large American Beauty organza roses and they wore matching shoes and long white gloves, gift of the bride. Their flowers were colonial bouquets of white carnations and American Beauty rosebuds, framed in American Beauty tulle with streamers. The flower girl's floor length frock of nylon lace over taffeta had a bouffant skirt, accented by a large bow in back. She carried a miniature like bouquet of roses and carnations.

Mrs. Quist attended the wedding and reception for 600 guests, held in St. George parish hall, in a two piece dress of willow green nylon lace over acetate, the over-blouse accented by a scalloped edge. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations and red roses. Mrs. Nelson wore matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations and pink rosebuds with her sheath of yellow lace over taffeta. The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Delore Cota of Wilson, was attired in a navy and white costume. She was presented with a corsage of white carnations and pink rosebuds.

Table decor for the reception was white tapers in net ruffled candleholders, centered with two silver rings, joined by a cross and two hearts. The arrangement was designed by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Albert Konkel of Bark River. The five-tiered wedding cake, made by another aunt, Mrs. Walter Martin, Bark River, was iced in the color theme of the wedding and topped by two satin bells with pearl centers.

Reception Aides

Pouring were Mrs. Ivan Sundquist, Mrs. Joseph Madalinaki and Mrs. Antone Cota. Janice Bohm and Jacquelyn Sundquist opened gifts, Peggie Quilliam of Detroit, a niece of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest book and Bonnie Nelson, Detroit, a sister, served the cake. Mrs. Joseph Barbeau, Hermansville, Mrs. John Britton and Karen Berger, Daggett, presided at the punch bowl.

A wedding dance at Bark River Community Hall followed the reception. When the newlyweds left on their honeymoon tour, the bride was attired in a shocking pink summer wool suit with navy accessories. Her corsage was white carnations. Their home will be at 215 W. Prospect St., Marquette.

The bride, a graduate of Holy Name High School and Mount Mary College, Milwaukee, has been a math teacher in Fenton Mich., High School. Mr. Nelson, a Graveret High School graduate is a compositor with the Marquette Mining Journal.

Wedding guests were from Port Washington, Hudson and Milwaukee, St. Paul, Lakewood, Ohio, Chicago, Detroit, Union Lake, Menominee, Ensign and Marquette and neighboring areas.

The former Miss Quist was honored at a prenuptial shower at which Mrs. Gary Jacobs of Fenton was hostess.

Casino Party At Highland Is Successful

Eighty-five members of Highland Golf Club and their guests enjoyed the "Las Vegas Night" dinner dance held at the club "Casino" Saturday evening.

Winners of mystery prizes were Miss Martha Johnson, Mrs. Bernard Ammel, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gasman and Mrs. Robert Bassett.

Mr. Bassett "broke the bank" to win the prize for the most money accumulated during the evening. The guest prize went to Grover Lewis.

A delicious smorgasbord was served after the cocktail hour and dancing followed the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Erickson were chairman of the committee for the evening.

Woman's Club Seeks Members

A special membership drive is being sponsored by the Escanaba Woman's Club during the summer season. The club, one of the community's outstanding organizations, meets monthly and sponsors interesting and varied programs as well as a large number of worthy projects. ## League Golf At Highland Wednesday's program at the Highland Golf Club will include regular League golf and dinner at the club house. Reservations are to be made by tonight. Mrs. Edward L. Moersch is chairman of the committee for the day, assisted by Mesdames Nicholas Chapakis, G. E. Christie, Earl Theriault, Fred Breitenbach, Ed Oliver, William Gerue and Reinhold Bittner and Miss Elaine DeGrand.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lickman of Wadsworth, Ohio visited over the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Florence Charland, Judy Charland of Milwaukee also visited with her mother.

Miss Stoneclift Is Henry Houle's Bride

Joan Elaine Stoneclift, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Stoneclift of Escanaba Rte. 1, became the bride of William Henry Houle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe E. Houle, 1204 12th Ave. S., Escanaba, in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Robert Selberg Saturday, June 26, at 2 p.m. at Central Methodist Church.

Bouquets of white gladiolus decorated the altar. The 4 to 8 p.m. reception and the wedding dance were held at Potvin's Fireside Room in Schaffer.

The newlyweds, who left for a honeymoon in Arizona, will live in Escanaba at 403 S. 14th St. The bride wore a gown of satin and Chantilly lace, styled with a scoop neckline, long sleeves and sheath skirt of satin with full overskirt of satin and lace. An organza rose headpiece secured her shoulder-length veil. She wore a pearl necklace, gift of the bridegroom, and she carried a cascade of white feathered carnations and orange roses.

Honor Maid Betty Stoneclift, honor maid for her sister, was attired in an A-line dress of orange peau de soie with scoop neckline, short sleeves, and back panel, extending from a bow at the neckline. Her headpiece was orange net with a bow and her shoes were of matching shade. Her jewelry was a pendant necklace and earrings, the bride's gift. Her flowers were a colonial arrangement of orange carnations.

Cynthia and Patricia Houle, nieces of the bridegroom, who were flower girls, wore floor length dresses of satin with cummerbunds and rose satin headpieces. Orange pompons and white daisies were in the baskets they carried. Dale Carlson, nephew of the bridegroom, had the role of ring bearer.

Best man for Mr. Houle was his brother, Alexander Hamilton. Ushers were James Houle, also a brother of the bridegroom, and Duane Marenger, brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride's mother chose a light blue jacket dress of acetate and rayon crepe with lace bodice. Mrs. Houle was attired in a pale blue organza sheath with lace bodice. The mother's accessories were white and their corsages were blue tipped carnations. The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Marie Arntzen, wore white accessories and a pink tipped carnation corsage with her navy blue and white silk dress.

For Going-Away During the reception Mrs. Daryl DeFranco, sister of the bride, cut the wedding cake. Mrs. Duane Marenger, also a sister, poured. Janet Carlson presided at the guest book, and Marilyn Houle opened gifts.

The bride's going-away costume was a white lace sheath with matching sleeveless coat. Both young people are Escanaba Area High School graduates and are with Harmschfeger Corp. Mr. Houle has completed four years service in the U. S. Air Force.

The rehearsal dinner Friday evening was held at the Houle family home.

Betty J. Sundquist Bride Of Mr. Giovenco

In a 7 p.m. ceremony Saturday, June 26, at Evangelical Covenant Church, Escanaba, Betty Jane Sundquist became the bride of Sydney N. Giovenco.

The Rev. Everett Wilson, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sundquist, Escanaba, Rte. 1, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Giovenco of 4026 N. Maplewood, Chicago.

The reception, immediately following the wedding service, was held in the church social rooms.

Donna Anderson was maid of honor and Kathleen Sundquist, a sister of the bride, and Rosemarie Giovenco, Chicago, a sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. Serving as Mr. Giovenco's best man was Marvin Wren of Chicago. The groomsmen were the bride's brothers, Clyde and Roy Sundquist, and ushers were former roommates of the bridegroom, Kenneth Moffatt and Wayne Lewin of Chicago.

Debbie Anderson, a cousin of the bride, who was flower girl, and David Sheedlo of Antioch, Ill., a nephew, who carried the rings, completed the bridal party.

The bride's attendants and her flower girl wore floor-length gowns of seafoam blue with round neckline and elbow-length sleeves. Their matching simulated rose headpieces had veiling and they carried baskets of blue and white carnations.

The bride's gown of silk organza was floor length with a chapel train which was gathered into a bustle for the reception. The sleeves were long. Applique cascaded from the top of the bodice to the full length of the skirt. Her veil was gathered to a six-pointed crown. She carried a cascade of mums centered with two small white cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Sundquist wore white accessories and a pink and white carnation corsage with her pale green street length dress.

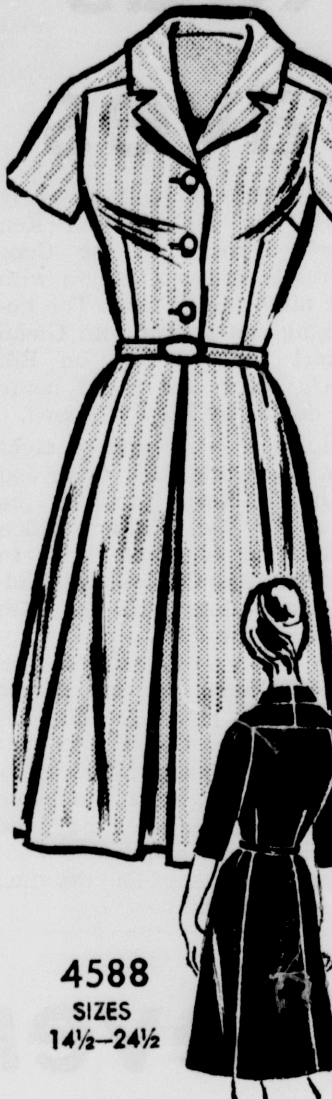

When the newlyweds left for an Upper Peninsula wedding trip the bride was wearing a three-piece suit and matching hat of turquoise, complemented by black accessories and the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet. Their home will be in Chicago.

The bride presently is a student at North Park College, Chicago, and her husband attended the same school.

Delores Waak Wed To Richard J. Victorson

The Rev. Dr. Walferd Nelson performed the 3 p.m. double ring ceremony Saturday, June 26, at Bethany Lutheran Church for Delores Jeanne Waak of Escanaba and Richard James Victorson of Lincoln Park, Mich.

The newlyweds, after a honeymoon at Cumberland Falls in Kentucky, will be at home at 1478 Paris in Lincoln Park.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Helmo Wook of 1223 N. 22nd St., and Mr. Victorson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Victorson, 1411 1st Ave. N. Both families are of Escanaba.

The bride's gown of white peau de soie was floor length with a chapel train. The bell-shaped skirt was covered with imported Swiss embroidered silk organza. The fitted bodice featured a cummerbund which fastened with a rose of silk organza. A silk organza bolero with three-quarter length sleeves and scoop neckline complemented the dress. Her floor length veil of silk illusion was gathered to a petal rose headpiece, accented with seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a white gold wrist watch, gift of the bridegroom. A white orchid and carnations were on the cover of the white Bible she carried. She was given in marriage by her father.

Aides In Pink

Floor length dresses of pink peau de soie with bell-shaped skirts, covered with graduated shades of plain pink silk organza were worn by her attendants. The dresses, sleeveless, with scoop neckline and cummerbund, fastened with a rose, were worn with a sleeveless bolero with high neckline. Their matching headpieces were a cabbage rose with tulle veiling. They wore shortie gloves and birthstone necklaces, gift of the bride and they carried baskets filled with pink and white daisies.

A college roommate of the bride, Diana Klawitter of Faithorn, was honor maid. Bridesmaids were Arleen Lorenson and cousins, Sandra Hale and Judy Barney, Ann Arbor. Gail Root of Ypsilanti, also a cousin, flower girl, wore a replica of the adult attendants' dresses. Multi-colored daisies were in her basket. Ring bearer was James Stasewich, a nephew of the bridegroom.

Timothy Dye came from South Dayton, N.Y., to serve as Mr. Victorson's best man. The groomsmen were Dennis Victorson of Appleton, a brother, Michael Bannon of Windsor, Ontario, Canada, and John Nagy of Allen Park, Mich. The guests were seated by Richard Waak, a brother of the bride, and Dale Irish.

Soloist of the wedding service was Conrad Beck and organist was Don Aronson.

For the wedding and the 4 to 8 p.m. reception for 175 guests at the Dells Supper Club, Mrs. Waak wore a pink linen three-piece suit with three-quarter length sleeves and floral embroidery on the jacket and blouse. Her pillbox was of matching shade and her accessories were white. Pink sweetheart roses and white carnations formed her corsage. Mrs. Vic-torson wore an anel jersey sheath of blue and white print, a white pillbox and white accessories and a corsage of blue feathered mums and white carnations.

The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Ella Wilson, chose a blue print sheath, all white accessories and a corsage of blue feathered mums and white carnations.

Reception Decorations

The reception decor was in the colors of the wedding and the flower centerpiece was a gift to the bride. The four-tiered wedding cake, all-white, on a rectangular base, was topped with a miniature church and bridal couple. Shirley Ford had the guest book, Kathy Wright served the cake, Judy Hale and Sally Waak presided at the silver service and Carole Lee served punch.

The bride's going-away ensemble was a pink sheath with blousy top of fish net, white accessories and an orchid corsage.

The former Miss Waak and her husband are Escanaba Area High School graduates. The bride attended Michigan State University three years and will complete her studies at Wayne State University. Mr. Victorson attended Central Michigan University and is a regional assistant accounting manager for Great American Insurance Co. of New York in Detroit.

The rehearsal dinner Friday evening was held at the home of the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Blau.

Pinson Paces Reds In Drubbing Braves

By The Associated Press

It's a better than even bet that Vada Pinson will have his best seasons in odd years.

Continuing to prove that 1965 will be no exception in his flip-flop pattern, Pinson combined with roommate Frank Robinson for nine hits and eight runs batted in as Cincinnati pounded Milwaukee 10-9 and 10-2 Sunday and moved to within one game of the National League lead.

Pinson sealed the sweep with a grand slam homer in the nightcap and wound up the day with four hits, four runs scored and four runs batted in. Robinson, who won the opener with a tie-breaking homer in the ninth, collected five hits while also scoring four and driving in four.

Pinson's 4-for-8 performance lifted his average to .311 while re-emphasizing the off-and-on pattern he has established during his seven-year major league career.

Starting with 1959, his first full year, Pinson has hit over .300 every odd-numbered year and under that level in the even-numbered seasons with averages of .316, .287, .343, .292, .313 and last year's lowest of all, .266.

With Pinson and Robinson showing the way, the Reds lashed 29 hits in the doubleheader, made it 11 victories in the last 14 games and closed considerable ground on the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers, who were walloped by Pittsburgh 10-2.

Elsewhere, St. Louis defeated Chicago 8-0 as Bob Gibson won his first game in more than a month before the Cubs took the nightcap 6-3. Philadelphia's Ray Culp shut out San Francisco 6-0 and Houston downed the New York Mets 4-2.

Wild Sixth Inning

The Reds built a 9-1 lead in the opener with Deron Johnson, Tony Perez and Tommy Harper hitting homers, but the Braves came back to tie the score in a wild sixth inning that cost Cincinnati eight runs, two players and a manager.

Frank Bolling and Joe Torre smashed homers during the Milwaukee uprising with Torre's blow just inside the foul line causing an argument that led to the ejection of pitcher John Tsitouris, Johnson and Manager Dick Sisler.

The nightcap was easier for the Reds, who exploded for six runs in the fourth inning, including the fifth grand slam of Pinson's career and another homer by Robinson. Jim Maloney breezed to the victory for an 8-3 record.

Jim Pagliaroni hit a three-run homer and Bill Mazeroski chipped in with a two-run shot as the Pirates handed Johnny Podres his fourth straight defeat. Bob Veale, now 8-5, checked the Dodgers on five hits and struck out 11.

Gibson, who had lost six straight after starting the season with eight victories in a row, limited the Cubs to five hits and struck out 12 in the opener while supplying the only runs the Cardinals needed with a two-run homer in the second inning.

DICK McAULIFFE, Detroit shortstop, kicks up dust as he makes a vain try for a drive by Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew in the first game of their doubleheader Sunday in Twin Cities. The Twins won both games to retain their lead in the American League race. (AP Wirephoto)

'Never On Sunday' Tigers Do It Again

BALTIMORE (AP) — The "Never On Sunday" Detroit Tigers arrived in Maryland today trying to forget a Twin double that kept them mired in fifth place.

The Tigers boosted their Sunday record to 3-14 with a doubleheader loss to the Minnesota Twins by scores of 6-4 and 6-5. The fact that the second game took 10 innings was little consolation.

There is something about doubleheaders that has eluded the Tiger training. They stand 2-16 after nine of them. They couldn't even take advantage of a Baltimore Oriole double dip to Chicago by scores of 6-2 and 4-0.

The Orioles, in fourth place, three games behind the Twins and one up on Detroit, will send Robin Roberts (4-7), the old Michigan State alumnus, to the hill against Denny McLain (4-3) tonight.

McLain has showed great improvement, winning his last two starts and striking out 14 in relief assignment in the last two weeks.

But even a McLain victory won't be enough to end those Monday morning blues.

It isn't for a lack of trying. Detroit fought back in both games, tying up the opener 4-4 and the nightcap 5-5, only to lose.

Don Mincher sewed up the first game with a two run, eighth inning homer which hit the field foul pole. It came off Fred Gladding.

The Tigers rallied after two outs in their half of the eighth making it 4-4 on Jackie Moore's homer, his sixth, a single by Al Kaline, and Willie Horton's 17th home run. Kaline, who sat out the opener, had four hits in the nightcap, and drove in the first two runs.

July 1 Deadline Set In Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The chairman of the Atlanta Stadium Authority indicated Sunday a July 1 deadline for deciding whether the city wants a team in the National Football League or the American Football League may be extended.

Arthur Montgomery said that no one has asked for an extension but noted the NFL was having a difficult time in selecting an owner for its franchise.

The city has been given franchises in both leagues and now must choose which one it wants to occupy its new $18 million stadium for the 1966 season.

Two Teams Tie For Golf Lead

Tied for first place in the best ball event at the Escanaba Country Club Saturday were the teams of Elmer Swanson-Harry Hogan and Bill Eis Sr.-Al Kidd with net 63s.

Tied for second were Dick Knoll-Harold VanEffen and Hank Neubert-Bill Perron with 66s.

Elmer Swanson was medalist with a 75 while Harry Hogan shot a 76, Al Kidd and Don Feller 77s and R. E. Nelson 78.

Pro Jim Crichton announced that the deadline for the annual club pari-mutual July 5th is Thursday. There are still openings, he stated. The event will begin with a shotgun start at 8:30.

Ryun Sets New Citizen's Mark

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — There was a mass exodus of the track and field contingent today, most of them European-bound and led by Billy Mills, Gerry Lindgren and mile sensation, Jim Ryun.

The books closed on the 77th annual U.S. AAU Championships after a stirring Sunday evening in which:

Seasoned Billy Mills of the U.S. Marines barely edged out 19-year-old Lindgren in world record time in the six-mile run.

And 18-year-old Ryun, a Wichita, Kan., high school lad, defeated two of the world's greatest, Peter Snell and Jim Grelle, in American citizen's record time.

The electronic timer separated Mills and Lindgren by 1-20th of a second, as both were clocked in 27:11.6.

AAU officials said both will be certified for a record, which smashed the 27:17.8 set by Ron Clarke of Australia in 1963.

Ryun's time of 3:55.3 bettered the pending citizens mark of 3:55.4 by Grelle in Vancouver, B.C., June 5.

The outstanding performance Saturday night was Bob Schul's 13:10.4 in the three-mile race. It bettered his own American record of 13:15.6.

Lindgren, Washington State freshman, will compete abroad several times before the American team assemblies for the dual meet in Russia July 31-Aug. 1.

Mills, America's 10,000-meter Olympic Games champion last year, is due to race at Helsinki, Finland, this week. But his plans may be changed after blood blisters developed on his left foot Sunday.

This was Snell's last race in America. He plans to retire after coming meets in Europe and England.

Toledo Blanks Buffalo, 4-0

TOLEDO (AP) — Paul Toth pitched a four hitter as Toledo handed Buffalo its second straight shutout 4-0 here Sunday.

Toth held the Bisons hitless for three innings before Jack Tracy beat out an infield roller in the fourth. The victory was Toth's third against five losses and his first since May 12.

By The Associated Press

The Minnesota Twins have developed the best puppet act since Kukla, Fran and Ollie — Mincher, Mele and Nossek.

The head of the act in this case is Sam Mele, manager of the Twins. And he's manipulating his puppets so well, they're keeping Minnesota ahead of the rest of the American League even though they're on stage only half of the time.

The pair, Don Mincher and Joe Nossek, took turns coming up with winning performances Sunday as the Twins swept a doubleheader from Detroit, 6-4 and 6-5 in 10 innings.

The double victory kept the Twins one-half game ahead of the Cleveland Indians and the Chicago White Sox, who also won doubleheaders.

Mincher broke up the first game, snapping a 4-4 tie with a two-run homer in the eighth inning. Nossek ended the nightcap with his third hit of the game, a single that brought in Rich Rollins with the winning run in the 10th.

Unusual Platoon

First baseman Mincher and third baseman Nossek are part of one of the most unusual platoons in the majors, with shortstop Zoilo Versalles the only infielder remaining stable.

When the opposition starts a right-handed pitcher, Mele shifts Harmon Killebrew to third base and places the left-handed hitting Mincher at first base. Soutpaw-swinging Bernie Allen plays second.

But when Minnesota faces a southpaw, Mele pulls Mincher off first in favor of Killebrew and picks the right-handed hitting Nossek out of the dugout and puts him down at third. Rollins goes in at second.

In other AL games Sunday, the Indians defeated Kansas City 10-7 in 15 innings and 11-7, the White Sox dumped Baltimore 6-2 and 4-0, New York whipped Los Angeles 7-2 and Boston swept Washington 4-1 and 5-4 in 11.

KC Marathon

The Tigers tied the opener 4-4 in the eighth inning when Don Wert singled and came all the way home as Tony Oliva threw wildly on Jackie Moore's single. But Harmon Killebrew led off the Twins' eighth with a single, and Mincher drove a Fred Gladding pitch against the right field foul pole.

A bases-empty home run by Don Metzger and Willie Horton's two-run homer brought Detroit even at 5-5 in the eighth inning of the second game. Then in the 10th, Rollins led off with a single, was sacrificed to second and scooted home on Nossek's ground single to center field.

GLADSTONE

Death Takes Mrs. McNair, 76

Mrs. Earl (Adele) McNair, 76, of 715 Michigan Ave., Gladstone, died Sunday at 2:15 p.m. at St. Francis Hospital where she was a patient one month.

She was born in Luxemburg Nov. 1, 1888, and had lived in Gladstone since 1912. She was a member of All Saints Church and the Lady Macabees.

Surviving are her husband; two sons, Kenneth, Gladstone, Earl J., Milwaukee, two daughters, Mrs. Lyle (Mary Margaret) Richards, Waukesha, Mrs. Louis (Patricia) Kirschling, New Berlin, Wis.; 19 grandchildren and two great grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Julia O'Connell, and a niece, Margaret Ferguson, Chicago.

Friends may call at the Skradski Funeral Home, Gladstone, after 3 p.m. Tuesday and parish prayers will be offered there at 8 p.m. Services will be held at 9 a.m. Wednesday at All Saints Church. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Matt LaViolette will officiate. Burial will be in Gardens of Rest Cemetery.

Briefly Told

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold a regular meeting at the Legion Hall at 8 p.m. today.

Bethel No. 7, International Order of Job's Daughters, will hold a regular meeting at the Masonic Temple at 7 p.m. today.

Phil Lippens, Cornell, reported to State Police Saturday that someone had broken into a cement block building behind an abandoned house on Co. Rd. E-10, Cornell Township, and had taken a battery and some gasoline from a tractor. Police are investigating.

State Police issued traffic summonses to the following drivers over the weekend: Norbert J. Randall, Rte. 1, Gladstone, reckless driving; Lawrence DeGrave, Redwood City, Calif., no operator's license; Joe Cupepper, Frankfort, Ohio, disregarded flashing red light; Ronald Carlson, Rte. 1, Cornell, was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law after he fell asleep at 1 a.m. Sunday while driving west on Co. Rd. 416, Escanaba Township, and ran into a ditch.

John Harris, 210 Stephenson Ave., Escanaba, was arrested by State Police and charged with driving under the influence of intoxicants at 11:45 a.m. Saturday. Officers said a citizen reported Harris had forced a number of cars off the road while driving east on U.S. 2 and 41 between Escanaba and Gladstone. The arrest was made just west of Ensign after a trooper in a patrol car followed Harris and observed him driving erratically. Troopers said Harris also forced the patrol car off the road. He will be arraigned in Justice Court in Gladstone today.

Personals

WHITEHALL (AP) — A pilot and his passenger survived unscathed when their Champion TECA plane plunged into Lake Michigan, about a mile off Whitehall Saturday. A boater picked up Richard Murray, 32, the pilot, of Mount Pleasant, and Guy Henry, 35, of Hemlock. Authorities said Murray apparently misjudged the plane's altitude while making a turn over the water.

Alger County Says: We Are Ready To Grow

Alger County, strung along the south shore of Lake Superior in a rather shallow littoral from a point about 15 miles east of Marquette to beyond Grand Marais, is one of the most beautiful, and one of the least populous of the counties of the Upper Peninsula. And it is development into one of the most ambitious and progressive.

Going out to persons of interest this week are packets of information on Alger County. They include an official directory compiled by County Clerk

Child Injured By Automobile

Kevin Roy, 4, the son of the Raymond G. Roys of 1023 6th Ave. S., is reported in "good" condition at St. Francis Hospital today where he is recovering from fractures and other injuries suffered when he was struck by a car in the 500 block, S. 10th St., at 4:19 p.m. Saturday.

He suffered fractures of the right arm, the right leg, ribs on the right side, and cuts and bruises.

The boy was hurt when he ran into the street and was struck by a car driven by Kay Susan Clement, 22, of 918 S. 15th St., who was driving between 30 and 35 miles an hour, police reported.

After the mishap with the boy the Clement car continued on and struck a parked vehicle owned by Carl L. Johnson, of 408 S. 15th St. Police ticketed the driver for speeding.

Escanaba police also investigated another accident in which Michael Derusha, 5, of 314 N. 16th St., suffered bruises on his face and shoulder. They said a pipe rolled from a pile at the natural gas pipeline project on 3rd Ave. N. on Saturday, causing the injury.

The measure, but its Banking Committee has approved a modified subsidy plan.

The other controversial bills the House hopes to act on are the administration's Economic Opportunity Act — known as the anti-poverty bill — and a measure to reduce or eliminate the silver content in coins. The Senate passed its version of the coinage bill last week.

The House today takes up the first of the annual series of emergency appropriation resolutions.

Long Holiday Weekend

These measures have become routine in recent years to meet the financial needs of federal agencies whose annual appropriation bills have not been enacted by July 1, when the new fiscal year starts. Only one of the dozen annual bills has gone to the President. It finances the Interior Department.

The Senate was expected to act on the annual military construction authorization bill before taking a long holiday weekend. Congressional leaders were not certain whether the presidential disability amendment would come up for votes this week.

Federal Aid For NMU's Students

MARQUETTE — A summer work-study program for Upper Peninsula students attending Northern Michigan University was announced today by University officials. The program, supported by the U.S. Office of Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, is effective immediately. To be eligible applicants must be enrolled or accepted for enrollment as a full-time student at Northern.

Students who are not enrolled in summer credit courses may be employed up to 40 hours per week. Students who are attending MSU this summer or taking any courses that carry credit may not be employed more than 15 hours per week during the duration of such courses. Preference will be given to NMU students whose combined family income is $3,000 or less.

with a tractor on the beach at his property when he looked out and saw "two orange objects" in the water. He asked his son, Joe, 10, if he had left the jackets on the beach and the boy said he had not.

"The water is way down. I took off my shoes and waded out. It was a couple of blocks out there," said Vanlerberghe.

The bodies of the two little boys were floating in the life jackets off a sand bar in about 18 inches of water.

"Their bodies were partly submerged. From the shore you could just see the life jackets. I hollered but it was blowing and no one heard me. I ran to the other boy and began to give him mouth-to-mouth breathing. He groaned and I knew there was life there so I picked him up and ran toward the shore and the cottages, yelling as loud as I could," said Vanlerberghe.

Auto Storage Facility Asked

Northern Motor Co. of Escanaba is proposing the construction of a new automobile storage facility at 1504 1st Ave. S. in a residential zone where favorable action by the zoning Board of Appeals is needed to bring the project to reality.

Percy Rosemurgy of Northern Motor Co. applied to the City of Escanaba for a building permit for the structure, which will be of masonry with thick firewalls, and will be 73 feet by 69 feet in size.

The front of the building will be designed to look like a dwelling. Presently the area is zoned Class C residential, and is separated from the commercial zone by an alley.

There is now a large building on part of the site and it would be altered to become a part of the new structure. The present building is 51 by 61 feet.

The zoning Board of Appeals has been asked to extend the present non-conforming use and a public hearing will be held. Date of the hearing is to be announced soon.

Screen Actor Steve Cochran Dies On Cruise

"God, what will happen to you if I should die?"

After he died, the women decided to stay on deck until help came, but heavy rains forced them to seek shelter in the cabin with the decomposing body several times.

The only food they had left were potatoes.

They tied a red flag to the highest mast at Cochran's instructions. Several boats passed without recognizing the distress signal. Finally they were seen by the Guatemalan tuna boat Bello Portugal which towed them into Champerico.

Cochran, a native of Eureka, Calif., had been married and divorced three times. His third wife, Jonna Jensen Cochran, told newsmen in San Francisco she had been informed of his death.

His other wives were Florence Lockwood, an artist, and Fay McKenzie, a singer.

Nepalese Women To Visit County On Tour Of U.S.

Mrs. Tula Rana and Miss Ambika Acharya, members of the Women's Affairs Training Institute staff, Nepal, will be in Escanaba Tuesday to study adult education methods and techniques as part of a tour of Michigan this month.

According to a tour itinerary released by Ingrid Tervonen, Delta County home extension agent, the women will visit Bay de Noc Community College and also confer with area homemakers and women from the Hannaville Indian tribe.

A conference with Shirley Miller of the Delta County Health Dept. is scheduled Wednesday.

Members of the Nepalese Women's Affairs Training Institute staff are concerned with problems of family living and development with emphasis upon the changing role of women and the social problems involved in bringing about cultural change. During their tour of the United States, the women are also seeking specific information about family planning, child and maternal care, nutrition, education and overall health development plus data on how women's organizations operate in this country.

Nepal, a country about the size of the Upper Peninsula, is located between India and Tibet and despite the rugged terrain about 90 percent of the people depend on agriculture for a living.

Boyce Winner In First Race For Seagulls

Bill Boyce finished first in the shakedown race for Seagulls out of the Escanaba Yacht Harbor Sunday, topping a field of nine boats.

The regular races will begin with the first series starting Sunday, July 4, and Monday, July 5. The races will start at 2:30.

Runnerup in the first event, which drew a large crowd at the Yacht Harbor, was Bill Stenbol. Other finishers, in order, were Peter Boyce, Steve Maki, Pat Gasman, John Hebert, Paul Bissel, Bill Moras, Fran Anderson's boat had a breakdown and did not finish.

Five Named To Progress Hall

MILWAUKEE — The naming of five new outstanding American contractors to Progress Hall, the construction industry's "Hall of Fame," was announced by Harnischfeger Corp. today.

Created in Milwaukee one year ago to honor achievement in the construction industry, Progress Hall displays the portraits of major contractors who have shown unexcelled leadership through astute business management.

Corporation President Henry Harnischfeger announced the second annual appointments as:

Buck Mickel, president of the Daniel Construction Co., of Greenville, S. C., who heads a firm which pioneered the nation's early textile plants and today is noted for chemical plant and medical center construction throughout the south-east.

C. H. Leavell, president of C. H. Leavell & Co., El Paso, Texas, who directs a highly diversified, international construction firm recently distinguished for the Arkansas River Lock and Dam, the Houston Post Office and numerous joint ventures on major missile projects.

J. B. Templeton, president of Austin Bridge Co., Dallas, Texas, a company that engages in noteworthy construction of bridges, highways, dams, airfields and utility plants. One of their latest projects includes the IH-20 Dallas expressway.

H. J. Frensley, president of Brown & Root, Inc., Houston, Texas, a firm whose outstanding engineering and construction achievements are reflected both nationally and internationally in power plants, refineries, sulphur and petrochemical plants, offshore drilling platforms, highways and bridges.

E. L. Simmons, chairman of the board of J. L. Simmons Co., Inc., Decatur, Ill., one of the nation's oldest contracting firms, whose well-known accomplishments began with the locks on the Erie Canal and who is recognized today for heavy building construction throughout the midwest.

"I'm delighted," said Harnischfeger, "that in some small way we are doing our part in helping make the general public aware of the vital contributions of the construction industry to the American way of life."

Three From Area Receive Degrees At Ferris College

Three Delta County residents were among the 983 Ferris State College students who received degrees or certificates at the June 13 commencement in Big Rapids.

The graduates, part of an audience of more than 6,000, heard Walter F. Carey, chairman of the board of the United States Chamber of Commerce, explain the labor paradox where "nearly four million Americans are without jobs at a time when personnel managers are combing the country for skilled workers."

The students and their fields of specialization were:

Escanaba: Edmund J. Hengesh, B.S., pharmacy; Gladstone: Roger K. Pepin, associate of applied science degree, highway technology, collegiate technical division; Rock: Bruce O. Sikkila, certificate, auto body and fender repair and painting, trade and industrial divisions.

First Pellets Of Underground Ore Move Today

NEGAUNEE—Another milestone in the resurgence of the iron mining industry on the Marquette Range occurred today with the shipment of the first trainload of pellets produced at the Pioneer Pellet Plant from Mather Mine underground iron ore.

The new multi-million dollar Pioneer Pellet Plant located at Eagle Mills is a joint venture of the McLouth Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp., Republic Steel Corp., and the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., which is also operating agent.

It is the first pelletizing operation in the world to agglomerate standard underground ore.

Mine Rebirth
This operation brings rebirth to the underground mining industry on the Marquette Range. The Pioneer Pellet Plant is a Monument to the joint efforts of labor, management, the community and the government — the like of which has seldom been seen anywhere, according to Harry Swanson of Ishpeming, superintendent of Michigan mines for CCI.

As late as 1962 the Mather Mine, one of the largest underground iron ore mines in the nation, was doomed to close. Since 1951 seven underground mines employing 2,200 people have ceased operating on the Marquette Range. The decline of underground mining has been due to the lack of demand for so-called standard underground ores.

For these ores to become competitive, according to CCI officials, their ore had to be processed into pellets. In the case of the Mather Mine, production of pellets containing 62 per cent iron ore was possible, but costs, of which high taxes were a major factor, were a problem, CCI officials said.

Anna English Dies In Detroit

MANISTIQUE—Mrs. Harry (Anna) English, 78, former Manistique resident, died Saturday in the Edgewood Convalescent Home in Detroit where she had been living for two years. Before moving to the convalescent home Mrs. English had been a resident of Manistique for 39 years. Mrs. English was born in Ontario on Nov. 21, 1886.

Surviving are: two daughters, Mrs. Shirley (Erma) Alton of Auburn, Mich. and Mrs. Otto (Margaret) Ostericher of Oak Park, three sisters, Mrs. Ed Hall of Gould City, Mrs. John Dexter of Jacksonville, Fla., and Miss Zella Schutkoske, of Detroit, four grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Friends may call at Messier-Broulliere funeral home after 7 p.m. today. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. on Wednesday in the funeral home, with the Rev. Harry Davidson officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.
